Bank of Italy is helping to keep California "white" on the Nation's business map.

NATIONAL SURVEYS each month show that, year after year, California continues to be a permanent "white spot" on the business map of the United States, due, in part, to the existence of proper and adequate banking service. The Bank of Italy—because of its great statewide organization, reaching every important agricultural, industrial and commercial center of the State—and its great fund of banking capital—has been able to give timely financial aid to every section of California. Great California industries—particularly fruit growing, agriculture, dairying and stockraising—have been financed and sustained during marketing periods by the state's largest bank. Bank of Italy will continue to aid in keeping the nation's "white spot" white.

Third Period in Herald's Campaign Ends Saturday—One More Week

This coming Saturday night will see the close of the all important third period in the Herald-News Free Gift Offer. There is just one more short week until the end. During the last two periods it has been anybody's race, and a very close race. It seems that all candidates are making real efforts to secure every possible subscription before the close of the campaign. So far hundreds of new subscriptions have been added.

Who Will Win the Special $200.00 Prize?
At the beginning of the second period the Herald-News added another prize, that being $200.00 in cash to go to the candidate securing the most votes beginning the second period and ending with the campaign December 1st. This in itself is a real race.

Details of the Final Count
In order to maintain utmost secrecy as to the number of subscriptions turned in by each candidate, NEXT WEEK THE FINAL WEEK the race will be brought to a close in a sealed ballot box. No subscription whatever will be accepted through the campaign department the last week, but instead candidates themselves will deposit their final

THE VOTE SCORE

Saturday night of this week closes the third period in the Herald-News Big Gift Offer. The closing of the second period brought about some surprises. Right now it is everybody's race, and no candidate has a safe lead. Those who hope to win one of the automobiles are going to have to step on the gas this week. Next week is the sealed ballot box week. No subscriptions will be accepted at campaign headquarters next week. Instead candidates will place all subscriptions and money in the sealed ballot box. The details of the final count and instructions concerning the ballot box will be in the next issue of the Herald. Candidates should remember that this is the last week for extension subscriptions.

collections in the sealed ballot box located in the lobby of the First National Bank of Torrance. And by so doing, no one, not even the campaign manager, or the publishers of the Herald-News can possibly know what is going in that box, or know what the "going strength" of the respective candidates is, which precludes any possibility of favoritism and insures fairness to the minutest degree.
The box will be locked and sealed and placed in the bank where it will remain until Saturday noon, December 1 and then, because of banking hours the box will be brought to the office of the Herald-News where it will remain until the final count, the same being held in the Herald building.

Important Candidates!

All candidates must appear at the Herald office either November 27th or 28th to audit his or her account. Appointments will be made with each candidate for this work by the campaign manager.

Right now is the time to poll the winning votes. This is the last week for extension subscriptions. Candidates should do their utmost to poll as many votes as possible this week. This is the important third period will in all probabilities decide the winning candidates.

BUILD AND LIVE IN TORRANCE

Old English and Modern American Home

By R. C. Hunter and Bro., Architects, New York

Every year the lure of the country side of old England draws thousands of American tourists and never do the old cottages and villages fail to charm the visitor. These old cottages—and to some extent even the more modern of English houses—give one the impression that they really fit into their environment.

Of picturesque irregularity, of varied materials and interesting details, properly placed on the site and with the mellow effect of age these old houses present pictorial compositions of rare quality.

But, for modern American living the plans of these old houses are not at all adaptable, so when one wishes a home with the flavor of the old English cottage an entirely new plan layout must be evolved.

In the house shown above one can see at a glance that both of these qualities—old English charm and modern American convenience—have been preserved and united with real success.

Nor is this house expensive to build. A proper distribution of the masses, careful roof treatment and study of the details permit a charming exterior with a most economical plan—the ideal home.

The construction is of frame with stucco finish except the front wall of the living room which is of brick.

The house measures 40 feet 6 inches in width including the garage, so a lot with a frontage of not less than 50 feet should be provided.

A cellar extends under the full house and provides the laundry, heater space and such.
A generous attic with stairway is provided.

Complete working plans and specifications for this house may be obtained for a nominal sum from the Building Editor. Refer to House A-175.
